- Language: English
- Processed by: Amanda Bahr-Evola, 2012
- Conservation notes: All possible plates digitized and re-housed into acid free containers
- Scope and Content: The bulk of the collection contains glass plate negatives from the Strauss Photography Studio, St. Louis Missouri. The collection also contains some prints and genealogical/research information regarding J.C. Strauss and family compiled by Thomas Yaul. The negatives and prints are retained in the original order they arrived at SLPL. The log used for digitization purposes outlines the original organization into red, orange, black, yellow, and brown milk crates. A number of negatives suffered severe water damage

(prior to SLPL acquisition) and are separated into 2 flat containers. The photography subjects are portraits of notable St. Louisans such as Mayor Henry W. Kiel, portraits of Veiled Prophet queens, weddings, exterior/interior of houses, local business advertising, and the Strauss family. There are also some prints dating from a later period that are the work of the later Edwyn Studios.

Arrangement: Collection organized into subseries.

Subseries I: Collection History

Subseries 2: Glass Plate Negatives

Subseries 3: Prints

Subseries 4: Negatives

In creating the divisions for the prints, folder breaks were maintained to correspond to box divisions. Order established at digitization retained with digital object numbers listed on folder label. A run of prints exists at the end of the collection for which no negative exists and these were not digitized. These prints have been placed in alphabetical order.

Restrictions: Unrestricted. Permission required to reproduce images.

Remarks: Contains fragile items
